

Contractor Connection® offers nationwide decontamination services

COVID-19 Response

If your organization or facility is exposed to coronavirus, Crawford's Contractor Connection® can provide you with a trusted, licensed and insured contractor to clean and restore affected sites in a timely manner and get you back in business. As part of our Environmental Hazards services, Contractor Connection's decontamination-credentialed contractors offer extensive expertise and are professionally equipped to restore sites affected by coronavirus and other biohazards.

Our nationwide network of contractors is the largest independently managed network in the industry, and each undergoes a rigorous vetting process and is held to the highest standards. Contractor Connection has been a proven solution for more than 20 years, providing peace of mind when it's needed most.

Whether you need assistance now or would simply like to prepare for a timely response should your facility be exposed, please contact us.

Preventative cleaning

Even before an incident occurs, our contractors can work with your business to provide cleaning and disinfecting services designed to reduce the opportunity for infection and keep facilities operating longer. When administered by our credentialed providers, preventative cleaning provides a cleaner, safer work environment and enhances employee and customer satisfaction.

Decontamination

When incidents occur, decontamination services can be employed to restore your place of business back to operation as quickly as possible, limiting business interruption. Our 24/7 call center and two-hour emergency response means help is never far away.

Biohazard waste disposal

As part of our decontamination services, our contractors are trained to handle and properly dispose of biohazard waste, safely removing any affected materials from the facility.

Why Contractor Connection?

- Over 700 fully credentialed and insured biohazard contractors
- Rapid response through our 24/7 call center and time-in-process monitoring
- Rigorous quality management throughout the restoration process
- Detailed invoice review to ensure fair and reasonable pricing
