

Contractor Connection® offers nationwide decontamination services

COVID-19 Response

If your organisation or facility is exposed to coronavirus, Crawford's Contractor Connection® can provide you with a specialised team to clean and restore affected sites in a timely manner and get you back in business. Contractor Connection has developed a protocol for cleaning properties in alignment with the recently released Australian Government Health Department cleaning guidelines.

Our contractors work efficiently to detail a site specific risk assessment, considering firstly whether the property has been known to be contaminated or whether the cleaning required is precautionary. We then work with you to develop a suitable scope and indicative cost to complete the decontamination.

Whether you need assistance now or would simply like to prepare for a timely response should your facility be exposed, please contact us.

Preventative cleaning

Even before an incident occurs, our contractors can work with your business to provide cleaning and disinfecting services designed to reduce the opportunity for infection and keep facilities operating longer. When administered by our contractors, preventative cleaning provides a cleaner, safer work environment and enhances employee and customer satisfaction.

Decontamination

When incidents occur, decontamination services can be employed to restore your place of business back to operation as quickly as possible, limiting business interruption. Our rapid response and four-hour means help is never far away.

Why Contractor Connection?

- Specialist fully biohazard agents
- Rapid response in line with Australian Government Health Department cleaning guidelines
- Rigorous quality management throughout the restoration process
